Planning on the Edge: Vancouver and the Challenges of Reconciliation, Social Justice, and Sustainable Development, edited by Penny Gurstein and Tom Hutton, explores the reality behind the rhetoric of Vancouver's reputation as a sustainable city and paves the way for developing Vancouver and its region into a place that is both economically sustainable and socially just.

February 27, 2020
5:30 - 9:00 pm
Room C300
UBC Robson Square

Moderator
Michelle Eliot (Host, “BC Today,” CBC Radio)

Panellists
Leonora Angeles (Associate Professor, UBC School of Community and Regional Planning and the UBC Institute for Gender, Race, Sexuality and Social Justice)
Howard Grant (Musqueam First Nation councillor)
Andy Yan (Director, City Program, Simon Fraser University)
Bill Rees (Professor Emeritus, UBC School of Community and Regional Planning)

Please RSVP at register.scarp.ubc.ca/events/planningontheedge